

I oppose loosening the rules designed to promote and protect diversity of media ownership. These rules were adopted to ensure that the public would receive a diverse range of viewpoints from the media, and not simply the opinions of a handful of media conglomerates.

FCC-

As a 20 year old student journalist, I have grown up surrounded by this "proliferation of outlets" to information and media. I have learned to sift through what is deemed news and not always trust the corporate media. Unfortunately, most people are still judging what is going on in the world by what the people on that glowing box called television are saying. Clear Channel is bad enough on the radio end.

When one corporation owns all the major outlets, we are talking about Big Brother.

I shiver to think of the implications if these FCC rules protecting the few independent TV, radio and print sources still left are removed.

Thank You
